DRUMMOND HILL

Drummond Hill

An outstanding Victorian manor house with superb character, situated within the expansive grounds of the Drummond Hill estate, in the Highland capital of Inverness, featuring beautifully landscaped gardens, a tree lined avenue and mature woodlands.

The imposing Victorian mansion house was originally constructed in the late 19th Century in 1886 for the local Inverness solicitor William Burns and his wife, where a marriage stone sits above the main entrance door. It is thought the house was designed by the prominent Inverness Architect, Alexander Ross.

The mansion house, together with the original charming gatehouse are Category B listed buildings.

Drummond Hill is an exceptional estate, comprising the sympathetic conversion of the stately home into six unique apartments, retaining the splendour of the property's many period features, including imposing fireplaces, ornate cornicing, oak panelling and the grandeur of the original oak staircase.

The spectacular Urquhart Castle, on the shore of Loch Ness is easily accessible from Drummond Hill.

Introducing ... The Collections at Drummond Hill

Inspired by nature, Drummond Hill comprises six individual collections.

The Birdhouse Collection

Twelve luxury new apartments, nestled within the tree-lined grounds of Drummond Hill.

The Orchard Collection

Three delightful cottages set within mature woodlands within vast green space.

The Botanic Collection

A beautiful avenue comprising six mews houses with garage and private gardens.

The Rose Collection

Nine grand family homes combine contemporary luxury within the majestic setting of a historic residence.

The Mineral Collection

Second Floor

With four flexible bedrooms situated over three storeys, each mews home in the Botanic Collection elevates choice.

Accessed through the entrance hallway, the ground floor incorporates a spacious double bedroom featuring French doors that lead to the rear garden which is encompassed by the lofty woodland of Drummond Hill. Allowing you to merge the indoors with the outdoors, it also creates a flexible social space that would make a wonderful family room.

The ground floor is completed by a shower room, handy utility room and access to the integrated garage.

The first floor presents a substantial and stylish lounge enjoying either a walk-out balcony or a Juliet balcony. Forming the heart of the Botanic Collection home, from this vantage point you can enjoy the views and splendour of the historic Drummond Hill mansion house.

The luxurious lounge is complemented by an extensive open plan kitchen/dining room designed by premium kitchen designers Ashley Ann and features a breakfast bar, creating the perfect space for informal dining and entertaining.

The kitchen is complete with a selection of integrated Siemens appliances including an induction hob with integrated ventilation system, fridge freezer, dishwasher, and Franke instant hot/cold/boiling water tap.

The primary bedroom with en suite and two further bedrooms are located on the second floor. Double windows allow light to flood into the primary bedroom and provide beautiful views out to the extensive greenery. Additionally, the second floor features a large family bathroom with a bath and overhead rainfall shower.

The luxurious lounge provides the perfect space to relax and unwind, entertain friends or to enjoy the views from the balcony of the historic mansion house and grounds of Drummond Hill.

Location

Drummond Hill truly offers the best of both worlds. A spectacular leafy suburb, it presents the chance to live in a tranquil and secluded setting, surrounded by rich local history, while benefitting from close proximity to a bustling city centre.

Situated to the south of Inverness City Centre, Drummond Hill is within walking distance of all the city has to offer by way of shopping, leisure and entertainment. This includes a suite of popular cafés, bistros, bars and restaurants lining the River Ness, most notably Michelin star restaurant Rocpool. It has great connectivity, bound by the east and west residential areas, and to the north of the city by the B862 Dores Road.

The surrounding views of the famous Scottish Highlands are outstanding, with acres of native pine trees, cherry trees, open green spaces and public gardens, making it the ideal place to connect with the outdoors.

Within easy reach, residents will find several historical and cultural points of interest including Inverness Castle, St Andrew's Cathedral and an original Victorian Market packed with independent traders who complement the busy high street.

Plenty of play parks, bike parks and golf courses are also nearby, including award-winning championship course, Castle Stuart Golf Links and the highly acclaimed Inverness Golf Club, which opened in 1883.

Drummond Hill offers the opportunity to enjoy the great outdoors.
